

Personnel and Organization Charts

JPL556
1941-2008

Scope and Content

This collection has been separated into three series: Laboratory Charts, Personnel Charts, and Organization Charts.

- Laboratory Charts show the overall organization of the Lab. Those labeled as personnel charts also include all employees in high level organizations such as the Director's Office.
- Personnel charts name all personnel in an organization.
- Organization charts name only the managers of an organization, down to the Section Manager or Group Supervisor.

In about 1960 there was a major reorganization at JPL. One and two digit organization numbers were replaced by a system using two or three digits (3X, 31, 311, etc.). Pre-1960 charts are placed at the beginning of the series.

Division personnel charts usually include the names of all division and section employees. When searching for the name of someone who worked in Section 645, see Division 64 or 640, if there is not a chart for Section 645. Some charts name all personnel at the division level, but only managers at the section level. When searching for a name, please check both personnel charts and organization charts.

Also included in this collection are personnel lists. Some personnel lists from 1947-1949 are on microfilm (roll 614-5A) and will be added to this collection at a later date. Because of poor print quality, they will have to be reformatted before scanning. Ask an archivist about access to microfilm.

Arrangement

Laboratory charts are arranged chronologically. Personnel and organization charts are organized first by organization number, then chronologically within each organization. Each significant change in organization name or number is indicated by a separate list and folder. Folders are labeled only with the organization number and name, but not a consecutive number, since more charts will be added to this collection as they are found. Two digit and three digit organization numbers (such as 34 and 340) are usually filed together, as long as the organization names match. When the organization name on a single chart varies slightly from the others in the same folder, the variant title is given after the chart date.

Provenance

The holdings of the JPL Archives and JPL Library were combined to create this collection. Duplicate charts were removed and best copies retained. The collection will be scanned by Engineering Document Services and electronic files made available to JPL internal users. They have not been cleared for public release.

Related holdings

For more detailed information about personnel appointments and organizational changes, see the This Week collection. Contact the Archives for assistance.

Acronyms:

ALD – Assistant Laboratory Director (equivalent to “Director for...”)
